District Reserve Bank Report Shows Big Activity For Year

Reports from varied lines—from bankers, manufacturers and merchants—all give evidence of great activity and annual reports which have come to hand show the favorable results of the year's operations. The banks throughout the district have increased deposits and heavy reserves, and the investment of many instances shows a demand for funds far in excess of the supply. Interest rates continue low and some of the country's banks are making a good outlet at home and abroad. In spite of the small return on their money, the banks are enjoying a good volume of business and are in a strong position and are only waiting for some definite assurance to the future before making commitments. One feature of the year's activity is the large volume of foreign government obligations offered in this market at attractive interest rates. First mortgage farm loans are in vogue, and the amount loaned here is said to be the highest. The insurance companies and banks are also active in the field of foreign investments. The railroad situation is one of the most serious problems before the district and the car shortage has not been alleviated to any great extent. Comments on this subject come in from all sides, and the coal industry claims that it is unable to make deliveries owing to inability to secure cars to move the coal from the mines. In certain sections the farmers have been unable to secure cars to ship grain to market and the delay has brought about serious conditions where the payments were dependent upon the marketing of the crop. The grain markets, with the exception of a speculative flurry, have been quiet. The relative price of the grain has been low and there is some indication that the farmers are holding back grain for speculative purposes. The other element tending to support the market is the Argentine grain situation and the heavy requirements from abroad. Livestock has come to market in quite a liberal way during the last month, realizing high prices. The cattle are generally in good condition but the hogs are frequently light in weight. It is reported that the supply of animals throughout the country is showing an increase, the domestic demand for packers' products is fair, and the export demand good. By-products are well taken at substantial prices. All labor is well employed at this time, and while a shortage is being felt, it is believed by many that the trouble will be more acute in the spring when those who are now working inside resume their open employment in such lines as building, etc. Wages are generally in accordance with the value of the services and this has brought about a somewhat better feeling and less discontent than existed several months ago. Reports from manufacturers and dealers indicate that the business in this district is satisfactory, the different localities naturally showing varying degrees of promptness in meeting their obligations. Through the Illinois and Indiana money is easy and payments satisfactory. Collections in Iowa, Michigan, and Wisconsin are generally prompt, but certain communities are suffering from inability to dispose of their crops, due to car shortage, while others are overstocked in some lines. These conditions, however, are not general and the situation on the whole is satisfactory. The steel companies are rushed with work, and the manufacturers dependent upon them find difficulty in securing prompt deliveries. The high cost of raw materials is still looked upon as a possible deterrent to future buying but this has not been indicated by the results to date. Dry goods distributors and merchants look forward to a good spring business and this year's sales to date are considerably ahead of last year. Though the outlook is offset by the fact that heavier stocks are carried, in some instances 15 to 30 per cent larger than January, 1916. This is an element which will bear watching. Wool is strong in price but there are some reactionary signs. Mills are running to full capacity, and it is expected the high prices and time to come. The lumber industry is quiet, and those concerns dependent for their supply upon overseas shipments are naturally suffering from lack of available stock. Planes are in good demand considering the time of year. Leather prices are not quite as strong as last month with the exception of sole leather. Shoe factories are running full time with favorable prospects. Clearings in Chicago for the first twenty days of January were $1,402,000,000, being $397,000,000 more than for the corresponding twenty days in January, 1916. Clearings reported by nineteen cities in the district outside of Chicago amounted to $288,000,000 for the first fifteen days of January, 1917, as compared with $203,000,000 for the first fifteen days in January, 1916. Deposits in eight Central Reserve City member banks in Chicago were $748,000,000 at the close of business January 22, 1917, and loans were $488,000,000. Deposits show an increase of approximately $36,000,000 and loans an increase of approximately $6,000,000 over last month.

BROOKLYN PRIEST NEARLY CONVICTED AS A SIN FEINE.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS] London, Feb. 2.—There was a young Catholic priest from Brooklyn, N. Y., who just wriggled into England between the inextinguishable claws of the British lion. He is a member of the Empire against unbelief, and the Philadelphia brought him to Liverpool from Flatbush, and nearly took him back. For Father William J. Fallon, well-known among the Catholic clergy of the East, was almost convicted of being an Irish rebel. In the spontaneous arguments that developed in the smoking "little bit of heaven" had a warm supporter in the person of the enthusiastic young priest. Home rule for Ireland was his theme, and he upped and downed before the Canadian lawyer. One old gossip aboard, whose elbow was worn crooked and who, if he lived in London would be required to wear a shade over his eyes, said that he had seen the priest in the Realm Act, under the Captain Candy that he was harboring a Sinn Feiner. When the alien officers came aboard the story had grown until Father Fallon was loaded with dynamite and tipped overboard. The late lamented Roger C. They had him up on the carpet. For over an hour the battle raged. They searched his trunks, scattered his papers, forced him into damaging admissions, and got back always as good as they gave. The climax came when, to catch their point, the officers called to several witnesses. They finally let him land.

CALUMET JOINS RANKS OF BETTER GRAIN CLUBS

The Calumet county order of the State Agricultural Experiment association was organized last week, making the fifty-second county in Wisconsin to form branch organizations of the state. The purpose of the organization is to improve the crop of the county. R. A. Moore, secretary of the state organization, made the principal address at the meeting. Twenty-eight farmers signed the charter. G. W. Morrissey, principal of the Chilton high school, was made secretary of the county organization. The meeting was held at the home of Mr. Morrissey, and a number of representatives to Madison during farm week, February 5-10, to attend the sixteenth annual convention and show of the state association. One other county order was formed during the past year, that of Forest county, with nearly twenty active members, which is considered remarkably good for this newly developed region. John Sweeney, North Cranston, county agricultural representative, was chosen secretary of the Forest county order.

COFFINS SO SCARCE IN LONDON THEY TAKE 'EM WITHOUT LIDS.

London, Feb. 2.—The British undertaker has sent out a plea for help. He can't get enough coffins and the cemetery can't dig graves fast enough to bury the dead. The trouble is that all the available men have been called up for war service. The undertakers who were wont to make their own coffins have lost so many men that they had to fall back upon the big manufacturing firms. The demand upon the big factories became so great that their supplies are exhausted. In some cases the rush for coffins has been so great that undertakers have taken them without lids.

WISCONSIN MEN ARE PLACED ON NATIONAL AYRSHIRE BOARD

Two Wisconsin dairymen, Adam Seitz, Waubesa, and Frank T. Stare, Ladysmith, were named to places on the governing board of the American Ayrshire Breeders' association at the association's forty-second annual meeting recently held in New York City. Mr. Seitz was elected vice president and Mr. Stare was named one of the directors for three years. Both men are well known to Wisconsin stockmen, the former being one of the foremost successful dairy breeders in the Waubesa "green belt" while the latter is secretary of the Wisconsin Ayrshire Breeders' association and one of the officials of the Wisconsin Live Stock Breeders' association.

COSTS EVERY BOY $10 A DAY TO PLAY HOCKEY FROM SCHOOL.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS] Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 2.—Every time a little boy plays hockey from school, it costs him $10, according to G. F. Womrath, business superintendent of schools, in a statement today. Here's the way he figures it:—Average annual earning capacity of educated man, $1,000; average earning capacity of uneducated man, $450; life expectancy of an educated man, 44,000; uneducated man, 38,000; difference, $22,000; school period of education, 12 years; total cost of education, $2,640. The difference between educated and uneducated, then, is just 2,160 days, which at $10 a day balanced the $22,000 in the life earning power of men.

MAKING GOOD.
Are you satisfied with what the world has slipped you? Does it seem that you've arrived where you should be? Have you reached the stage in life, where you've faced and conquered strife? Have you reached the port beyond the troubled sea? Or, returning found you could not make the voyage, 'cause you did not have the grit to brave the storms? Were you faithful in the start, but have failed to do your part, when you found that making good made some reforms? That's the trouble with the gink that checks his baggage to some clime away from dear old mother's hearth; he is not prepared for grief, which gets to him like a thief, and his clouds of anguish darken all the earth. When you make your start, don't look for beds of roses, do not look for calm, expect to find it rough; you'll get tossed about and jarred, bumped a few and jibbed and marred, but all on — you can succeed, you've got the Link Single stuff.

European Countries Uphold Compensation

FOR many years England has had fair and just laws providing for compensation to those who sustained loss through denial of license renewal or whose business was injured or destroyed through adverse legislation.

France has likewise adopted the principle of compensation.

According to a Paris dispatch, published in the New York Tribune, February 13, 1915, a Bill, passed by the French Chamber of Deputies, on February 12, 1915, provided that "indemnities will be granted to manufacturers affected by the Bill, and will be covered by a Special Act later." The Bill also applies to Algeria and to the colonies, and it was understood that it would be extended to cover the protectorates.

The Commission, appointed by the Norwegian Government to consider and report upon the liquor question in all its aspects, handed in its report on May 6, 1915, favoring compensation.

In Switzerland the principle of compensation has been in force for nearly five years. A law went into effect there, on October 7, 1910, forbidding the manufacture, sale and importation of certain kinds of liqueur. This law was adopted in 1908. An amendment carried a compensation clause, on the strength of which empowering clause, an indemnity law was passed by the Federal Council. When one member of the Federal Council objected to the compensation provision, citing the fact that compensation was not granted in the United States, the President of the Federal Council replied that whatever others might do, Switzerland could not afford to be unjust.

If Switzerland cannot afford to be unjust can we in America afford to be unjust?

Should not the Brewing Industry which has always been fostered and heavily taxed by the Government have equal rights with other industries or individuals?

Study the principle of compensation and you can only concede that it is right, fair, just and honest.

Two HUNDRED FACTORIES BEGIN MOVING OUT TO GIVE DOWNTOWN N. Y. A CHANCE.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS] New York, Feb. 2.—Thirty of the two hundred clothing factories that are moving out of downtown New York to save the district to retail stores and to cut their exceedingly heavy rent, started to get out today. The balance of the two hundred will depart gradually, as their leases expire, the last of them to be gone by the end of 1918. Many of them will move to Long Island City and other places in and around New York. Some of them will cut their rent, thereby from $40,000 a year to $20,000 or less. This, they say, will make a difference in the price and quality of their products sold to Chicago, San Francisco and other cities' stores. Five hundred million dollars worth of clothing was made annually in this downtown area.

Mrs. J. E. Stevens of 456 North Pearl street, was hostess this afternoon to a ladies' card club. Sixteen ladies enjoyed the game of bridge. Refreshments were served during the afternoon.

Mrs. T. W. Nuzum of 602 Milwaukee avenue, entertained Circle No. 7 of the M. E. church this afternoon. Every member brought some article that they wanted to dispose of and they all sold at auction. The proceeds are to be used by the circle for church work. The bidding was quite brisk, the results satisfactory, and their white elephant sale proved a great success. Mrs. Nuzum served light refreshments.

The M. N. club will meet this evening with Miss Janet Malt at the home of Mrs. Mae Smith on Jefferson avenue. A supper will be served and the amusement for the evening will be the game of 500.

The Girls' Reading club will meet at the library on Saturday morning. This club is composed of the girls of the fifth and sixth grades of the public schools. Miss Agnes Buckmaster will have charge of the program.

The Social club of Crystal Camp, No. 122, R. N. A., met at the home of Mrs. McKillop of 452 North Pearl street on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. McKillop acted as hostess in an entertaining. The game of 500 was played, at which the prizes were won by Mrs. Robert Bailey and John Ward. The ladies served a supper at half past five.

Mrs. E. H. Peterson of Pleasant street, gave a luncheon today at one o'clock. Duplicate bridge was played in the afternoon at three tables.

The Junior league of the Methodist church will enjoy a bob-side tomorrow afternoon, leaving the church at 2:30. After the ride they will return to the church and have a business meeting, the conclusion of which a picnic supper will be indulged in, each one bringing his own lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Fuelleman entertained the members of a card club to a 7:30 dinner on Wednesday evening.

When Itching Stops

There is one safe, dependable treatment that relieves itching torture and skin irritation almost instantly and that cleanses and soothes the skin.

Ask any druggist for a 25c or $1 bottle of zemo and apply it as directed. Soon you will find that irritations, pimples, black heads, eczema, blotches, ringworm and similar skin troubles will disappear. A little zemo, the penetrating, satisfying liquid, is all that is needed, for it banishes all skin eruptions and makes the skin soft, smooth and healthy.

If You Have Pain In Your Joints

If you have pain in your heart, if your gums bleed, if you get up in the morning with a bad taste in your mouth, you probably have Pyorrhea, the gum disease, which not only causes the above conditions, but also loosens and destroys your teeth, and after an operation until you are toothless.

Come in and let me cure you of this distressing condition.

WAUSAU MAN INVENTS
PEA SORTING MACHINE.

(Special to the Gazette.)
Wausau, Wis., Feb. 2.—A pea sorting machine, which he claims will do the work better than scores of girls, has been invented by R. G. P. Babbar of the Wausau Pea Packing Company. The peas are dropped on a belt, traveling upward, the defective ones being carried along while the perfect ones roll down the belt. The belt must be changed to meet the different grades and weights of peas.

BACKACHE SOON
DISAPPEARED

Could Not Do Housework
Till Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
Removed Cause.

Fort Fairfield, Maine.—"For many months I suffered from backache caused by female troubles so I was unable to do my housework. I tried many treatments for it but received no help whatever. Then some of my friends asked why I did not try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and my backache soon disappeared and I felt like a different woman, and now have a healthy little baby girl and do all my housework. I will always praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to women who suffer as I did."—Mrs. ALTON D. OAKES, Fort Fairfield, Maine.

When a remedy has lived for forty years, steadily growing in popularity and influence, and thousands upon thousands of women declare they owe their health to it, is it not reasonable to believe that it is an article of merit? If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened and read by women only.

It's Wonderful How
Resinol Stops Itching

To those who have endured for years the itching torments of eczema or other such skin eruptions, the relief that the first use of Resinol brings is a revelation. Resinol usually gives relief in a few days. After all the suffering they have endured and all the useless treatments they have spent good money for, they cannot believe that such a simple, mild and inexpensive cure can stop the itching and burning INSTANTLY. And they find it still more wonderful that the improvement is permanent and that Resinol really drives away the eruption completely in a very short time. Perhaps there is a pleasant surprise like this in store for you. Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap are sold by all druggists.

A Good Soap For Baby Skin

A good baby soap should contain soothing, healing properties to prevent the rashes and chafings which babies are liable to. That is why so many parents recommend Resinol Soap.

A RAW, SORE THROAT
Eases Quickly When You Apply
a Little Musterole

And Musterole won't blister like the old-fashioned mustard plaster. Just spread it on with your fingers. It penetrates to the sore spot with a gentle tingle, loosens the congestion and draws out the soreness and pain. Musterole is a clean, white ointment made with oil of mustard. It is fine for quick relief for sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuritis, headache, congestion, dizziness, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, strains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bite, colds on the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). Nothing like Musterole for croupy children. Keep it handy for instant use.

Nan of

Lefever never patted an eyelash. "I know you can't, Henry. Because you won't. That Scotch hybrid McAlpin knows a few things, too, that he won't tell. All I want to say is, you can trust that man too far. He's got all my recent salary. Every time Jeffries raises my pay that hairy-pawed horse-doctor reduces it just so much a month. And he does it with one pack of fifty-two small cards that you could stick into your vest pocket."

"McAlpin has a wife and children to support," suggested De Spain. "Don't think for a moment he does it," returned Lefever vehemently. "I support his wife and children myself. 'On shouldn't play cards, John.' " "It was by playing cards that I located Sassoon, just the same. A little game with your friend Bull Page, by the way. And say, that man blew into Calabasas one day here lately with a twenty-dollar bill; it's a fact. Now, where do you suppose he got twenty dollars in one bill? I know I laid it two hours after he got there, and in fifteen minutes that blundering bull-headed man paid thirty-two a week to look it away from me. But I got Sassoon spotted. And where do you suppose Spilt-lips is this minute?"

"Morgan's gap," "Quite so—and been there all the time. Now, Bob has the old warrant for him—the question is, how to get him out."

De Spain reflected a moment before replying: "John, I'd tell him alone just for the present," he said at length.

Lefever's eyes bulged. "Let Sassoon alone?"

"He'll keep—for a while, anyway. 'What do you mean?'"

"I don't want to stir things up too strong over that way just at the minute, John."

"Why not?"

De Spain shuffled a little. "Well, Jeffries thinks you might let things rest till Duke Morgan and the others get over some of their soreness."

Lefever, astonished at the indifference of De Spain to the opportunity of nabbing Sassoon, while he could be found, expostulated strongly. When De Spain persisted, Lefever, huffed, confided to Bob Scott that when the general manager got ready he could catch Sassoon himself.

De Spain wanted for Nan's sake, as well as his own, to see what could be done to pacify her uncle and his relations so that a woman might be driven in between them and their notorious headman, and Sassoon brought to book with their consent; on this point, however, he was not quite bold-faced enough to take his friends into his confidence.

De Spain, as fiery a lover as he was a fighter, stayed none of his courting because circumstances put Music Mountain between him and his mistress. And Nan, after she had once surrendered, was nothing behind in the chances she unhesitatingly took to ar-

THE MAY APPLE

(By L. H. Smith, M. D.)

The public generally have a wholesome fear of dosing themselves with strong mineral purgatives, such as calomel or mercury. For promoting the appetite and digestion and to prevent or cure the coated tongue, taste in mouth, the dark brown, the sallow complexion, and bad breath you should occasionally, at least once a week, take a pleasant laxative or cathartic. Such a one is made up of the Mayapple, the dried root of the leaves of aloes, and the juice of jalap, made into a tiny pellet and coated with sugar. It was first put in ready-to-use form by Dr. Pierce nearly 50 years ago, and will almost always cure the inactive liver and biliousness. Insist on getting Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets—there are none so good.

"Where Was the Belt When You Found It?"

range her meetings with De Spain. He found in her, once her girlish timidity was overcome and a woman's confidence had replaced it, a disregard of consequences, so far as their own plans were concerned, that sometimes took away his breath.

The very day after she had got her uncle home, with the aid of Sutterlee Morgan and an antiquated spring wagon, Nan rode, later in the afternoon, over to Calabasas. The two that would not be restrained had made their appointment at the lower lava beds halfway between the gap and Calabasas. The sun was sinking behind the mountain when De Spain galloped out of the rocks as Nan turned from the trail and rode toward the black and weather-beaten meeting place.

They could hardly slip from their saddles fast enough to reach each other's arms—Nan, trim as a model in fresh khaki, trying with a handkerchief hardly larger than a postage stamp to wipe the flecks of dust from her pink cheeks, while De Spain, between dashes, covered them with impetuous greetings. Looking engrossed into each other's eyes, and both, in their eagerness, talking at once, they led their horses into hiding and sat down to try to tell all that had happened since their parting. Wars and rumors of wars, feuds and raidings, fights and pursuits, were no more to them than to babes in the woods. All that mattered to them—sitting or pacing together and absorbed, in the path of the long-cold volcanic stream buried in the shifting sands of the desert—was that they should clasp each other's clinging hands, listen each to the other's answering voice, look untroubled into each other's eyes.

They met in both the lava beds—the upper lava between the gap and town—more than once. And one day came a scare. They were sitting on a little ledge well up in the rocks where De Spain could overlook the trail east and west, and were talking about a bungalow some day to be in Sleepy Cat, when they saw men riding from the west toward Calabasas. There were three in the party, one lagging well behind. The two men leading, Nan and De Spain made up to be Gale Morgan and Page. They saw the man coming on behind stop his horse and lean forward, his hand bent over the trail. He was examining the sand and halted quite a minute to study something. Both knew what he was studying—the footprints of Nan's pony heading toward the lava. Nan shrank back and with De Spain moved a little to where they could watch the intruder without being seen. Nan whispered first: "It's Sassoon." De Spain nodded. "What shall we do?" breathed Nan.

"Nothing yet," returned her lover, watching the horseman, whose eyes were still fixed on the pony's trail, but who was now less than a half-mile away and riding straight toward them.

De Spain, his eyes on the danger and his hand laid behind Nan's waist, led the way guardedly down to where their horses stood. Nan, needing no instructions for the emergency, took the lines of the horses, and De Spain, standing beside his own horse, reached his right hand over in front of the pommel and, regarding Sassoon all the while, drew his rifle slowly from its scabbard. The blood fled from Nan's cheeks. She said nothing. Without looking at her, De Spain drew her own rifle from her horse's side, passed it into her hand, and, moving over in front of the horses, laid his left hand reassuringly on her waist again. At that moment, little knowing what eyes were on him in the black fragments ahead, Sassoon looked up. Then he rode more slowly forward. The color returned to Nan's cheeks. "Do you want me to use this?" she murmured, indicating the rifle.

"Certainly not. But if the others turn back, I may need it. Stay right here with the horses. He will lose the trail in a minute now. When he reaches the rock I'll go down and keep him from getting off his horse—he won't fight from the saddle."

But with an instinct better than knowledge, Sassoon, like a wolf scenting danger, stopped again. He scanned the broken and forbidding hump in front, now less than a quarter of a mile from him, questioning. His eyes seemed to rove inquisitively over the lava pile as if asking why a Morgan Gap pony had visited it. In another moment he wheeled his horse and spurred rapidly after his companions.

The two drew a deep breath. De Spain laughed. "What we don't know never hurts us," he drew Nan to him. Holding the rifle muzzle at arm's length, as the butt rested on the ground, she looked up from the shoulder to which she was drawn. "What should you have done if he had come?" Taken up to the gap and then taken him to Sleepy Cat, where he belonged.

"But, Henry, suppose—"

"There wouldn't have been any 'suppose.'"

"Suppose the others had come?"

"With one rifle, here, a man could stand off a regiment. Nan, do you know, you fit into my arm as if you were made for it?"

His courage was contagious. When he had tired her with fresh importunities he unpinned her felt hat and held it out of reach while he kissed and toyed with and disarranged her hair. In revenge, she snatched from his pocket his little black memorandum book and some letters and read or pretended to read them, and seizing her opportunity she broke from him and ran with the utmost fleetness up into the rocks.

In two minutes they had forgotten the episode almost as completely as if it never had been. But when they left for home they agreed they would not meet there again. They knew that Sassoon, like a jackal, would surely come back, and more than once, until he found out just what that trail or any subsequent trail leading into the beds meant. The lovers laughed the jackal's spying to scorn and rode away bantering, racing and chasing each other in the saddle, as solely concerned in their happiness as if there were nothing else of moment in the whole wide world.

CHAPTER XVIII.
Facing the Music.
They had not underestimated the danger from Sassoon's suspicious megalomania. He returned next morning to read what further he could among the rocks. It was little, but it spelled a meeting of two people—Nan and another—and he was stimulated to keep his eyes and ears open for further discoveries. Moreover, continuing ease in seeing each other, undisturbed by hostile eyes, gradually rendered the lovers less cautious in their arrangements.

De Spain, naturally reckless, had won in Nan a girl hardly more concerned. Self-reliant, both of them, and instinctively vigilant, they spent so much time together that Scott and Lefever, who, before a fortnight had passed after Duke's return home, surmised that De Spain must be carrying on some sort of a clandestine affair hinting toward the gap, only questioned how long it would be before something happened, and only hoped it would not be, in their own word unpleasant. It was not theirs in any case to admonish De Spain, nor to dog the movements of so capable a friend, even when his safety was concerned, so long as he preferred to keep his own counsel—there are limits within which no man welcomes uninvited assistance. And De Spain, in his long and frequent rides, his protracted absences, his indifference to the details of business and careless humor, had evidently passed within these limits.

Dinner
Stories

It was on a branch railway train. The ancient engine, having wheeled laboriously over equally ancient rails, jolted to a restful stop at no place in particular. Time passed tediously. Some of the passengers looked anxiously out of the window, while others drew their hats down over their eyes and tried to forget it. When half an hour had elapsed the conductor came along.

"Here, conductor," said a querulous old gentleman, "what is the trouble?"

"We're taking on water," was the explanation.

"Oh, indeed?" snapped the old man. "Why on earth don't you get another teaspoon?"

Mary, small but up to date, had been to tea for the first time with the new neighbors. From an account the little girl there had not been at all generous in permitting Mary to share her playthings.

"Well," said Mary's mother when she had heard about it, "if anybody had treated me like that when I was a little girl I should have come straight home."

Mary shrugged her small shoulders. "Things have changed since your day, mother," she said. "I slapped her face and stayed."

It was small Gilbert's sad fate to suffer the attentions of a well-meaning doctor.

"Put out your tongue, my boy," the persecutor said.

Gilbert feebly produced the tip of that member.

"No, no, put it right out," the doctor said.

Gilbert raised his head weakly and tears glistened in his eyes.

"Can't," he cried. "It's fastened on."

Corns Peel Right
Off With "Gets-It"

2 Drops, and the Corn is a "Goner!"

When you've got to work on the sides of your shoe to get away from those awful corns, there's only one common-sense thing to do. Put 2 or 3 drops of "Gets-It" on the corn right away. Pain and inflammation disappear. The corn will begin to shrivel from that instant—then it loosens and falls right off.

There's no other corn-remover in the world that acts like "Gets-It." No new discovery has been made in corn-removers since "Gets-It" was born. Don't forget that fact. "Gets-It" does away forever with the use of salves that irritate, bandages that make a bundle of your toes, plasters that half do the work, knives and scissors that draw blood. Use "Gets-It"—no more digging or cutting.

"Gets-It" is sold everywhere. 25c a bottle, or sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

Sold in Janesville and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by McGee & Bus, Reliable Drug Co., People's Drug Co., W. T. Sherer, Smith Drug Co.

THE BOOB FAMILY.
AND OTTO HASN'T A WORD TO SAY.This Simple Laxative
A Household Necessity

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin
Should Have a Place in Every Home.

Constipation, or inaction of the bowels, a condition that nearly everyone experiences with more or less frequency, is the direct cause of much disease. When the bowels become clogged with refuse from the stomach, foul gases and poisons are generated, and unless the congestion is quickly relieved the system becomes weakened and most susceptible to attack.

Various remedies to relieve constipation are prescribed, but many of these contain cathartic or purgative agents that are harsh and violent in their action and shock the system. The most effective remedy is the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that is sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

The Hon. John D. Keister of Brandywine, W. Va., who has represented his district in the State Legislature for six years, writes that he uses Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and finds it a splendid laxative, easy to take and mild, yet positive, in its action, and that it should be in every household for use when needed.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold by druggists in all parts of the United States, and costs only 50 cents a bottle. It contains no opiate or narcotic drug, does not gripe, and is recommended as a family laxative, mild enough for the tiniest babe, yet sufficiently powerful to act easily on the strongest constitution.

To avoid imitations and ineffective substitutes be sure to get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. See that a faithful portrait of Dr. Caldwell's signature and his portrait appear on the yellow carton in which the bottle is packed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 455 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

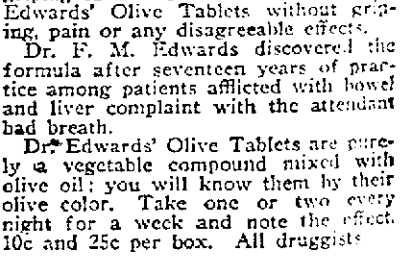

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, gripping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without gripping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint with the attendant bad breath.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

HERE'S A MAN WITH A BRAND
NEW CALENDAR ALL DOPED OUT.

Fresno, Cal., Feb. 2.—Now comes Benjamin B. Goodman of this city with a new calendar. If it went into effect we could forget the old rhyme about "Thirty days hath September, April, June and November."

Under Goodman's system the year would be divided into four seasons of three months each. Each season would contain two months of 28 days each and one month of 35 days. New Year's day would not, under this system, be Jan. 1, but would be simply known as New Year's day and would be the day following the last day of

The Chicago Mystic Athletic Club, which comes here tomorrow night to meet the Cardinals at the Auditorium has the best record of any five which has played in the city this year. With seven victories out of eight games played it is expected that the Cards will have to play their best basketball to take the game.

Only the University of Chicago, Knox College and Muscatine, Ia., have taken their measure. From the Muscatine score, 22 to 25, some knowledge of the strength of the visitors can be gleaned. Fogarty took his Rockford team out and had the score tripled on him. The Mystics played on the Cardinals' floor and only lost by seven points. It looks like some battle tomorrow night.

Manager George Caldwell today announced that he had determined to send Mitchell and Knapp, Pfend and Miller and Gloden against the Windy City team. Davis of Madison was to play, it was planned, but because of examinations he is forced to remain at the university. This week it is highly probable that the fastest player in the Big Nine conference in years will be seen in a Cardinal suit a week from tomorrow night.

BELOIT TEAM HERE FOR GAME TONIGHT

Fast Game Predicted Between Bitter Rivals at the High School Gym This Evening.

With Beloit coming to this city this evening to meet the Janesville high team, students and coaches at the local school are preparing for the hardest tussle of the year. For years the Line City team has been the greatest rivals of Janesville; they would rather beat the local boys than any other aggregation in the state, and similarly Janesville is putting its greatest hope in this game.

According to dope the two teams stand about even in their records so far this season. Beloit was beaten by Rockford, 22 to 1, while the Illinois boys won from Janesville 19 to 8. Both teams beat Delavan by about the same scores. Their team is fairly heavy, but bases its prowess on speed; Janesville now has a heavier team than has been put on the local floor for some time. But there has been no sacrifice of speed for weight.

During the past two weeks Coach Keck has been working hard with the squad and has been fortunate in having a number of new men who have just become eligible. Fern, the center, is a new man, six feet three inches tall, powerful and said to be fast on his feet. Cassidy, who will play one of the forwards tonight, another new man who it is said will tear things up; the game at Madison he made five baskets in the last ten minutes of play.

The game is scheduled to start at eight o'clock, following a preliminary game at seven between the Congregational and the St. Patrick's church teams.

The line-up for Janesville will be: Cushing and Cassidy, forwards; Feltr, center; Keppings and Hagar, guards; Kober, Davy, Sprackling, Morse, Nuzum, substitutes.

Referee—Dick Gray, Wisconsin.

TWENTY-FIVE HIGH SCHOOLS ENTER TEAMS IN STATE-WIDE CONTEST

Returns have been received from ten of the twenty-five district high school stock judging contests, the winners of which will meet at Madison for a state tournament during farmers' week, Feb. 5-10.

These preliminary contests were carried on with keen interest, and all classes of live stock were selected for the work. Each of the schools was represented by teams of three men.

The judging was done on different farms in the home districts, and under supervision of agricultural teachers in the high schools interested. T. L. Bewick, state leader of boys' and girls' club work, will have charge of the finals. The winning high schools in the preliminary events thus far completed, together with the names of the teachers who will accompany their teams to the state contest are: Belmont high school, R. F. Hints; Stoughton high school, M. Tiege; Union Junction high school, G. F. Guenther; Bayfield high school, H. J. Rahm; Iowa; Prairie du Sac high school, Stanley Johnson; Peshigo high school, R. F. Blocker; Rio high school, Roy Jones; Walworth high school, R. L. Ostrander, and Frederic high school, H. M. Nelson.

Milton high school, which won the state championship last year, has been eliminated in the semi-finals this year, Milton Junction taking the coveted place after a hard struggle. Athens high school, which won second place in 1916, is now lined up for the final fight for a place in the finals against teams from the Wausau, Merrill and Tripoli high schools.

DOG TEAMS WITHIN FEW MILES OF GOAL

St. Cloud, Minn., Feb. 2.—Narrowed down to a test of pluck and nerve for five men—all Hudson Bay traders except the indomitable Fred Hartman—the Red River-St. Paul carnival dog derby is approaching its close with the survivors practically on even terms.

Albert Campbell, the Le Pas fur trader, who entered the race as favorite because of his victory in last year's Hudson Bay sweepstakes, set a pace today that forced the last of his Lake Winnipeg rivals out of the contest. This fearless Cree halfbreed, followed closely by his brother, Gabriel, Wilf Grayson, a native Nanitoban, and Joe Metcalf, an American from Antigo, Wis., is struggling through drifted snow, urging his dogs on toward the finish line in St. Paul, now only eight miles away.

Bringing up the rear, but within a few hours of the leaders, is a fur-swaggered, 120-pound bundle of American courage, whose name is Harry Hudon. As he approaches each town along the route is the signal for whistles, yells of encouragement and the speedy assembly of the entire community in the main streets to unite in shouting "Hurrah for Hartman."

Spectacular as the feats of the other derby contestants have been, they are forgotten in the popular mind in the excess of the worship of the northwest man in recognition of his perseverence in the face of apparently insurmountable difficulties. In half a dozen teams racing from $25 to $100 have been given him: women of Alexandria had a sewing bee to prepare canvas boots to protect his dogs' feet from chafers along the railway tracks; men made leather vests, caps, gloves and heavy socks have been showered on him, and he has been compelled to watch his dogs closely, lest they be tempted to steal scraps from feeding them delicacies that would make them ill.

HERE'S ANOTHER PLAN FOR WORLD'S SERIES RENOVATION

New York, Feb. 2.—Laughing at the various colored and scented suggestions for changes in the manner of conducting the annual winter baseball, John B. Foster, secretary of the New York National league club, declared today there isn't really anything to be done about it.

"The magnates feel they really have to have a change," he said, "let them give the winning club 90 per cent of the players' share and give the losers 10 per cent of the winning club's share and give it to charity, and give just the same amount out of the club owners' share."

"This idea of giving every club in each league a check at it is altogether wrong. Do you suppose they would go through without pooling the sum to be divided a different way? Not on your life. They'd turn it into a cinch for some club and then the tail enders would cease to play their best."

Foster went back to the days when the world's series was started. "The players don't realize," he said, "that the world's series was started for their special benefit. They got in the first cut because the magnates wanted to give the championship clubs a bonus for their work. It never was the intention to have others participate. Now, when the season advances across the Fourth of July mark, the only thing the first division clubs can see is the old dollar mark, and it sticks in their claws right up to the last game."

Foster believes something should be done and that quick, but he doesn't jibe with the suggestion that the number of games or the rules governing them be changed, with the exception of the manner of dividing the gate receipts.

Sport Snap Shots MORRIS MILLER

If Grant Hugh Browne lives up to the signed promise to pay Les Darcy $20,000 he will have set a high water mark for middleweights, a notch that in all probability will never be reached again. Thirty thousand dollars! Shadler, of Jack Dempsey, Bob Fitzsimmons and Stanley Ketchel, but that is a lot of money for middleweights. Darcy may not be capable of living up to a thousand dollar a minute pace, but we won't know anything about that until it is all over. We know absolutely nothing of the boy except that which has been told by Australian writers, and returning American middleweights.

Darcy is going to be under a strenuous strain when he faces his first American fight, ranging. He will be forced to outdo himself in order to make good. Always there will be the thought that he is being paid more money than was ever given a man of his class before and he is sure to be over-anxious.

That has been the case time without number. If Darcy can win as Bob Fitzsimmons did over the unfortunate Dempsey, then he is certain to be a fixture and an idol here as he was at home. There is no question but that the faithful admirer of a misfit came to us practically unknown. When he landed in San Francisco gawky and broke, he had to beg for a chance to show what he could do with his freckled fists. There were no $20,000 offers in those days. Fitz wasn't appreciated until he leveled the great "Nonpareil."

That done, Les is apt to become patriotic, shoulder his little blunder-buss and hike off to the wars. A man ought to be willing to die after being handed that much money for thirty minutes of hitting, missing and alround prancing about.

Howard Berry, Pennsylvania pentathlon champion, and football and baseball star, is getting into harness again. He is almost constantly in training except in the depth of winter, when he is resting up from football and not quite ready to begin his track work. But with the near approach of the intercollegiate indoor championships, Berry is hard at it again. He will race the Pennsylvania relay team in the championships, and will endeavor to defend, with Larry Scudder, Tommy Lennon and George Pope, the trophy which the Quakers won a year ago.

Michigan's football prestige was perhaps never at a lower ebb than at the present time. If the schedule of the 1917 varsity eleven is a criterion. The only remedy would seem to prevent the Wolverine from dying in a football way, from dry rot, is a speedy return to the Western Conference, but although the students are willing, and there seems to be a general disposition to forget the incidents which led to the withdrawal from the association, those in control appear still to be too proud to submit to the terms. Long ago Michigan felt that the conference would cease to prosper without it. Now the reverse is true, and only the conference can save intercollegiate sport at Michigan.

England's great little boxer, Jimmie Wilde, the lightweight champion, got many complimentary remarks paid him not long ago, who after three attempts, he finally was accepted for military duty. He was so small and looked so puny he had been refused each other time. Now comes the report that he has been released from military duty because he is the sole support of his family. He has agreed, therefore, to work in the coal mines, which are under government control, and to serve his country behind the lines by mining coal for the use of the army and navy.

THE WHATCHAMA COLUMN.

Spaghetti.
Don't argue with your spaghetti. It won't do a bit of good. Not a bit. Spaghetti is an obstinate, contrary food. You can't tell it a thing. You might as well try to reason with a plate of rattlesnake.

There is more pure cussedness in ten yards of spaghetti than in any other product sold by the linear foot, with the possible exception of noodles and barbed wire.

There's no excuse for spaghetti acting the way it does. Food can be rambunctious without being hateful. Lettuce does it. Why can't spaghetti?

Something ought to be done about this. And something shall be. The time will come when some brave man will meet this temperamental Italian worm on its own ground and conquer it.

But so long as unfettered spaghetti is given the freedom of its dish there is no relief in sight.

SPANELL ACQUITTED ON MURDER CHARGE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
San Angelo, Tex., Feb. 2.—Harry J. Spanell was declared not guilty of the murder of his beautiful wife, Crystal Holland Spanell. The jury deliberated two hours. Spanell will be placed on trial at once for the murder of Lieutenant Colonel Matthew C. Butler, U. S. A., who was shot while with Mrs. Spanell. He will be allowed to leave jail under $5,000 bonds.

Spanell was not brought into the court room to hear the verdict. He received the news in his cell. When he learned the jury had freed him he broke into tears.

A special venire for the second trial has been summoned.

has not yet decided whether to enter the fight ring when he recovers. At any rate he has a jaw that will stand some hard punching. Physicians said, after they had treated him. A brick fell 150 feet, and struck him on the jaw. Beyond a fractured jaw and the loss of several teeth, he was not hurt.
